

Race Brook 21st Chatter

January 2018

Once again....we keep your children busy, creative and happy! A huge thanks to our Instructors who help make this program a success! They enjoy helping out with cooking, craft, STEM and fun ideas every month. Enjoy!!

Here at 21st Century, the students are given more trust than their parents would like. Students were given the opportunity to construct and model igloos. Sadly, the instructors thought it was a smart idea to build those igloos out of marshmallows. That trustworthy relationship between instructors and students may or may not have taken advantage of a little when more marshmallows ended up in stomachs instead of igloos. Sorry parents, it sounded like a good idea in theory.

Arts & Crafts

With a new year here, the students wanted to get their wishes for it front and center. They created and hung stars with what they hoped 2018 had in store for them. Also to celebrate all of the snow days and delays this month, a number of snowflakes were painted along with our best imitation of beautiful Evergreen trees covered in snow. Why complain about having time off, no adult ever has and now no child will either.

- Riya 1/17
- Grace 1/18
- Eddie 1/18
- Ryan. S 1/25
- Liam 1/26
- Silas 1/26
- Angelina 1/26
- Charlie 1/27
- Daniel 1/27
- Tyler 1/29

what's cooking

To finish off a great week, the students helped to make warm, crispy, and definitely cheesy quesadillas. It may seem easy and simple, but making quesadillas for a number of students is absolutely harder than the kids believed.

Since the program can represent a zoo at times. What is a better idea than bringing the animals to the zoo. Curious Creatures were nice enough to come and show us their family and friends. It made perfect sense why many students knew the animals on a first name basis. (Pictures continued on page 2)

CURIOUS CREATURES

